

Speaker Schedule For 2006 IATC

Day 1, Tuesday

Session	Date	Time	Subject	Presenter	Description
Session 1	16-May	8:00-10:00	Preparing For The Inevitable - What All of America Must Be Ready For Now	Lt. Col. (retired) U.S. Army Joe Ruffini	Lt. Col. Joe Ruffini (ret.) is a 20 year veteran of the U.S. Army, becoming one of the military's top counter-terror and national defense experts.
Session 2	16-May	10:00-12:00	The Rising Threat Of The Taliban And al Qaeda Terrorism In Afghanistan	Maj. John James	CENTCOM's Chief Force Protection Officer (CFC-A CJ3) in charge of U.S. security for all U.S. military bases and camps in Afghanistan, Uzbekistan, Kyrgyzstan, Pakistan, and Tajikistan.
Session 3	16-May	1:00-4:00	The Changing Face Of al Qaeda And Its Current Threat To America	Dr. Rohan Gunaratna	Dr. Rohan Gunaratna is the preeminent world expert on al Qaeda and Usama bin Laden.
Session 4	16-May	4:00-5:00	Terrorist Weapons And Tactics	Sgt. Llew Rowe	Llew Rowe is the Connecticut State Police Academy Training NCO where he serves as the counter-terror specialist and instructor, teaching Terrorist Weapons and Tactics, among other subjects. Sgt. Rowe has trained law enforcement across the United States and is a nationally recognized counter-terror expert.

Day 2, Wednesday

Session	Date	Time	Subject	Presenter	Description
Session 1	17-May	8:00-10:00	Chechen Terrorism - The Greatest Unrecognized Threat To America	Col. Russian Special Forces Sergei Gritsenko	Colonel Sergei Gritsenko is a native of Chechnya, and has served in both Chechen Wars. He is a decorated war veteran and was a team leader in the Nord Ost Theater siege assault in October 2002.
Session 2	17-May	10:00-12:00	Narco Terrorism: Recent Links Between Afghan Opium Production, Russian And Chechen Organized Crime Groups, And America	Rob Jones	Mr. Jones was an Army Ranger, and was active in Colorado's counter-narcotics program as the Military Intelligence Detachment NCO in charge for the 19th Special Forces Group (Airborne). He is a law enforcement officer and international security consultant.
Session 3	17-May	1:00-3:00	School Siege Training Exercise	Sgt. Chris Zeigler Sgt. Joe Bail	This joint presentation by Sgt. Chris Zeigler and Sgt. Joe Bail will provide critical information on organizing and conducting school siege training exercises and the most important lessons learned for American SWAT teams from the largest exercises yet held in the U.S.
Session 4	17-May	3:00-5:00	Multiple Terrorist Doctrine - Terrorists In Mass Hostage Sieges	John Giduck	John Giduck, J.D., M.A., is the president of the Archangel Anti-Terror Group, recognized international terrorism expert and author of "Terror at Beslan: A Russian Tragedy with Lessons for America's Schools."

Day 3, Thursday

Session	Date	Time	Subject	Presenter	Description
Session 1	18-May	8:00-10:00	Lessons From Britain - What Britain Has Learned In The Aftermath Of The July 05 London Bombings	Seamus O'Brien	Seamus is a retired British SAS commando, now a top security consultant contracted to the British government to investigate the July 2005 London bombings.
Session 2	18-May	10:00-12:00 1:00-2:00	Terrorist Hostage Negotiations - Revamping Traditional American Barricade Negotiation Techniques To Deal With International Terrorist Sieges	Maj. Konstantin Komarov, Ph.D.	Major Konstantin Komarov (Ph.D.) is a retired Russian Special Forces officer, having served with both GRU and elite MVD Spetsnaz units, and is a decorated war veteran. He was integrally involved in the development of Russia's counter-terror tactics, including its terrorist-hostage negotiation techniques.
Session 3	18-May	2:00-4:00	U.S. Special Forces Role In Keeping The Terror Abroad	Master Sergeant Matthew Greca	Member of the elite Delta counter-terror unit Master Sergeant Greca has just completed combat tours in both Afghanistan and Iraq.